St. Andrew's Church Remembers Soldiers

By Sheila Phibbs
The Haliburton Press

HAGERSVILLE—Each congregation at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church recognizes its members who served and died in the world wars.

Parishoner Brenda Galt left believed that more should be done than just announcing the four names inscribed on a plaque in the church. She recalls, "I both-

Last November, she embarked on a historic journey to learn more about these men and, in the process, learned of seven more who were affiliated with the church. Her extensive research uncovered details of their military service and Hagersville connections.

On November 6 the congregation paid tribute to these seven fallen soldiers. Peter Marshall Laidlaw was the first member of the church to die in WWI. He was in the Machine Gun Corps and fought at Passchendaele. His name is included on the "Tyne Memorial" in Belgium.

Frank Bruce Robertson was also killed in the WWI. He was responsible for road and bridge repairs and died at Vieux-Ardres, France, where he is buried.

Richard Lawrence Gordon, whose father was minister at St. Andrew's, was in the Royal Canadian Air Force and was shot down over enemy territory in WWII. His younger brother, Bruce Moore Gordon, also joined the Air Force and was killed in training when he was 19.

Two members of St. Andrew's died on August 19, 1940 in Dieppe. Frank Howard Weaver and Neil Sommerville were in the Royal Hamilton Light Infantry and were a tank crew at the Dieppe Canadian War Cemetery.

Ross Bertran, who taught in Oranburg and Waterford, was gunned down after a successful air attack on an enemy tanker. His name is on the War Memorial Tower in Malta. Ross's twin brother, Roy, and his family regularly attended St. Andrew's and his grandparents operated the blacksmith and carriage shop in Sarnia.

British pilot William Frank Mitchell met his wife, Mary Duffin, while training in June. They were married at St. Andrew's in 1942 and he died in India a year and a half later. His daughter, Donna, was just four months old at the time. She regularly attended the church with her grandmother.

Dennis Patton worked as a hired man on Robert Gilbertson's farm. He enlisted after his step-uncle, Frank Weaver, was killed. He was a member of the Royal Regiment of Canada and was killed in action in Normandy. He is buried in a Canadian War Cemetery in France.

Harold Donald, whose sister, Sally Laidlaw, is a St. Andrew's member, served with the Black Watch Royal Highland Regiment of Canada. His vehicle hit a land mine and he later died from his wounds. He is also buried in a Canadian War Cemetery in France.

Kenneth Morris was a step-uncle of Dennis Patton and Frank Weaver. He enlisted in the army when he was 17. He was hit by machine-gun fire and before his 20th birthday and is buried in the Netherlands.

While these names may not all be familiar today, their stories are relevant to the members of St. Andrew's and the community as a whole.

Gallant states, "These men were someone's sons and family. We need to learn more about them before it's too late."

Her research has been compiled into binders for each soldier. These were on display at the November 6 service, along with numerous war artifacts provided by Glenn Smith of Canadans.

This is the first research project for Gallant, who has always had a strong interest in local world war history. She thanks Bonnie Rull-Middle and Margaret Clausen for assisting her efforts. The internet and the Haliburton Museum and Archives were integral sources of information.

It has truly been a labour of love and she encourages others to pursue their own family stories: "If you had a loved one in the war, please research so they don't get lost. Find out all you can before they go into obscurity."

MORRIS—In loving memory of a dear step-brother, Kenneth A. Morris, killed in action March 8th, 1945.

I will never forget his smiling face,

As he bade his last good-bye,

For he left his home forever,

In the distant land to die.

—Forever remembered by step-sister, Patsy.

MORRIS—In sad and loving memory of a dear son and brother, Pte. Kenneth A. Morris, 19 years old, of the Essex Scottish Regiment, who was killed in action in Germany March 8th, 1945.

The blow was great the shock severe,

We little thought the end was near,

And only those who have lost can tell

The pain of parting without farewell,

More each day we miss you, son,

Friends may think the wound is healed,

But they little know the sorrow

That lies within our hearts concealed.

Sadly missed by Mom, Dan, Marie, Norma and Frankie.

PTE. K. NORRIS HAS STOMACH WOUNDS

MEAFORD, Aug. 26—Charles Morris of Meaford received word that his youngest son, Pte. Kenneth Alan Morris, has suffered abdominal wounds. The exact extent of his injuries are not known as yet, but his father is anxiously awaiting further word.

Pte. Kenneth Morris is just 19 years of age and the word that he was in France came as a great surprise to his father. He is serving with the Essex Scottish Highlanders. He enlisted in January of 1942 and trained at the following places: Toronto, Camp Borden, Sussex, N.B.; Niagara Falls, Stratford. He went overseas in July of this year and must have proceeded to France shortly afterwards. A brother, L. A. C. Leslie Morris, is with the R.C. A.F. at Aymer.

Letters – Insight Into the Worry, and Pain, of Families In Wartime

- Ken, to his brother Les, after Ken was wounded in August 1944 [Sept 2 / 44]:
 - don't worry about me as I am coming along fine and they took the stitches out of my stomach wound to-day ... the flesh where the slug punched me seems dead ... but I think myself lucky, seeing some of the guys, but so much for that.
 - Les I hope Mom didn't take it too hard
 - you don't know how much it means to a guy to receive a letter from home when he's either in action or hospital and when a guy receives a letter from home it makes him feel as if he could take on the whole German army single handed and lick them which we are doing now and the boys are doing a damn good job of it.

Letters – Insight Into the Worry, and Pain, of Families In Wartime

- Letters from Ken to his mother:

- Tell Pop to have a good storage of beer on hand for the day Denny and I come home as you are going to see two pretty dry sons coming home after the job is done as the beer we can get over here tastes like fish [Aug 10 / 44 – 3 weeks after Dennis was KIA, 3 days before Ken was seriously wounded].
- That about Dennis came as a heck of a shock to me and I am going to miss him more than words can say when I get back home as Dennis and I had many a good time together and the way we did things we were more like brothers and a few people took us for brothers when they seen us together as in some way we resembled one another. [Nov 12 / 44]
- I am back with my regiment and where I am now is pretty good only for the mud and language, which is hard to understand and it sounds like dutch to some of us. But the people are friendly [Nov 27 / 44]
- I enjoyed this Christmas fairly well as we had a platoon get together a couple days before Christmas and had turkey, sauce, pudding, oranges and Christmas cake and after the meal we had a little party with plenty of punches to drink [Jan 7 / 45]

Letters – Insight Into the Worry, and Pain, of Families In Wartime

- Letters from Polly to Ken:

- I can't help worrying when I don't hear from you. I pray for you every night ...Frankie says Ken is shooting the Germans, he sure can talk now. I hope this war is over soon so we can have you home again ... May God bless you and keep you safe. Lots of love.
 - [Mar 9 / 45] – Note the date, one day after Ken was KIA. Letter was returned 'DECEASED, RETURN TO SENDER'

- Letter from Lieut. James Noonan, Essex Scottish Regt:

- May I convey to you the sincerest sympathy and understanding of all the officers and men of "B" Coy ... His fatal wound was received from machine-gun fire while making an attack with his company ...Pte. Morris was a very good soldier and a friend of all the boys in the platoon.

Letters – Insight Into the Worry, and Pain, of Families In Wartime

- Letters from Les to his mother:

- He [Ken] was in battle too as he said he got a few before he was hit. He said not to worry though because he was well on his way to recovery. Thank God Mother he is and I hope and pray that it is over soon and we can all return to a peaceful world again. [Sep 11 / 44, after Ken was wounded]
- Dear Mother ... I have not had any word from Ken for quite awhile either and I hope he is okay too ... Yes Mom I know Ken will be 20 years old on the 20th of this month and Shirl and I sent him a card last Sunday [Mar 13 / 44, 5 days after Ken was KIA]
- Dear Mother, Received your telegram yesterday afternoon Mother and it was an awful shock to me. I think you will understand Mother when I say I can't express my feelings as you know my feelings. I'm so terribly sorry as I loved Ken so dearly [Mar 21 / 45]
- Mother I know you are thinking an awful lot of Ken and so are we all, but as you said Mother it is God's will, but we are certainly deeply proud of Ken. Mother I know the Silver Cross you received for Ken is very, very nice and is a dear remembrance. [May 13 / 45]

Letters – Insight Into the Worry, and Pain, of Families In Wartime

- Letters from Dennis to Brenda's step-grandfather in Hagersville – Dennis worked on his farm – another amazing coincidence in “Rescued From Obscurity”.
 - June 21, 1943 (3 pages).
 - Right after Dennis arrived in the U.K. from Canada.
 - The usual stuff about England, the English, English driving, English money, English girls, English beer, English trains ... And, oh yea, please write.
 - August 27, 1943 (2 pages).
 - You haven't written. How's the farming going? How's George, and everyone else? Sure hope this thing doesn't end before I get a crack at it. A new niece. And, oh yea, please write. Or else.

Second Edition - The Final Chapter?

So many Canadian losses during wartime.

Unimaginable, the impact on their families.

Second Edition - The Final Chapter?

“Canada Remembers” Facebook – Remembrance Day 2017:

Master Corporal Byron Greff was the last Canadian to die in Canada's mission in Afghanistan (October 29, 2011).

He was 28 years old. His wife was 26. They had two children, 6 years old and 2 weeks old.

Second Edition - The Final Chapter?

My initial motivation for “Rescued From Obscurity” (2010):

“As I start to write this, I reflect on my motivation. First, I believe this is an interesting chapter in the Morris family history, for follow-on generations. But perhaps there is a more important motivation. On too many occasions lately (2010), young Canadians are dying in Afghanistan. I have three children of the same ages as these young Canadians. It is unimaginable to me having a son or daughter killed in a far away dangerous place, away from family. It is even more unimaginable to have him or her die in obscurity, to have any knowledge of their existence fade to next to nothing in a few short years from now. I trust the families of the young Canadians dying today won't let that happen.”
